

Please DO NOT relax restrictions on cell phone use in-flight. This could actually benefit terrorists who could communicate among each other in-flight. When you balance whatever benefits you think relaxing the rules would give, it is minimal compared to the monumental consequences this action could cause.